Sam is sick. Sam can not go in a big van.
Dan is sad. We can not win if Sam is sick.
Sam has a plan.
“Pick Liz,” Sam says. “If you pick Liz, we can win, win, win!”
Dan is not a big fan of Liz. Dan will pick Pam.
“Pam can not kick. Liz can kick. Pick Liz,” says Sam.
“I can pick Rick,” says Dan.
“Rick can kick, but Rick can not tap a rim. Liz can. Pick Liz,” says Sam.
Dan is a pal. Dan will pick Liz.
“You will win with Liz!” says Sam.

Kit is In

My sis, Kit, is a Ram.
Kit will sit and clap. Miss Kim can pick Kit or Pam to go in.

Jan and Tim zip, zip, zip. Tim will slip. Tim has to quit. Is it bad?
Dad says, “Miss Kim can stick in Kit!
Kit is not big, but Kit is quick! Will Miss Kim pick Kit?
Kit is in! Jan will dip and zip, zip, zip. Kit can hit the rim! It is in!
Dad and I clap for Kit. Kit can tip it in! Miss Kim has a big grin.
“Go Kit!” says Dad.

Activity Write about a game you like to watch. Tell why.
Pet Hen

It is pet day at school.
Tom has a big dog. Tad has a cat. Jeb has a fish. Dot has a little dog.
Jack has a big red hen.
“A hen is not a pet,” says Dot. “A red hen is just a red hen!”
Tom, Tad and Jeb nod. A hen can not sit up or beg. It can not hop. It can not run to get a stick. A hen can not do a trick. It can not lick you on the chin. It can not sit in your lap. It can not nap on a bed. A hen can peck, cluck and sit on a nest. A hen is a big dud!
“A hen can not sit, hop or beg,” Jack says. “But if you want an egg, a hen is the best pet.”

Tug

Deb has a big pet dog, Tug. Tug has a lot of pep. See Tug run! Tug can run and grab a stick. Tug can tug a log. He can sit on a mat. Tug can yap, yap, yap!
Deb can get Tug to do a trick. See Tug sit and beg! Tug can stand up and do a jig. He can do a back flip. Tug can fit in a big box. He can get my red hat and sit on my lap.
See Tug get in a big tub. Tug is wet. Deb can pat Tug. But he still can run and have fun. Tug can go to his bed. He can nap. Is it a trick? Yes!

★ACTIVITY★ Write about a pet you would like to have.
Camping with Dad

Dad and Max went backpacking. For Dad, lugging stuff up a hill is fun. He climbed up the path. Max lagged in back, dragging his bag. Max stopped to fix his hat. His skin was burning. Max wished he had a wagon to get his stuff up to the camping spot.

“Are we stopping?” asked Max.

“You can not be getting tired. I just got going!” Dad grinned.

Max jogged to keep up. He huffed and puffed. “I am hot,” Max gasped. Max wanted to quit.

“We have reached the top!” said Dad.

Dad had stopped. Max stepped up next to him. The forest looked grand.

“What are you thinking?” asked Dad.

“I am glad I am camping with you,” said Max.

Planning a Trip

Pat and Mack are planning a trip. Planning a trip can be fun! Pat is dreaming of a place she can visit. Mack is dreaming of a place he can visit. What kind of place will be picked? Will they be visiting a spot on a hill? Will they be visiting a place in the sun? Pat is pulling out a big map to find a spot. Mack is reading a map. Will they be traveling by bus, van, ship, or jet?

Swimming is a must on a trip. Pat is picking a fun spot in the sun. Shopping and stopping at a camp is next. Mack is telling Pat to bring a backpack. They will be traveling a lot. Mack and Pat are beginning to pack a big bag. It will be a fun trip!

ACTIVITY Write about a trip you recently took. Did you enjoy the trip? Tell why or why not.☆

Name ________________________________

Ice Fishing with Jake

When the lake froze, Jake and I set a date to go fishing.

We made a hut with a place to sit. We cut a hole in the ice. I gave Jake a pole. I dropped a line in the hole.

“I hope I get a pike,” said Jake.

We sat. We sat and sat and sat. I felt like an ice cube.

“I hope I get a bite before morning,” I said. “What time is it?”

“Time for a bite,” said Jake with a smile.

My mom had made us a big lunch. I ate mine.

Jake was just set to take a bite of cake when his pole snapped.

“Save a slice of cake for me,” yelled Jake. “I snagged a pike on my line!”

The Lake

In June we take a trip to a big lake. It is close on a map, but it can take an entire day to get to it. On the drive we play a game to make the time pass fast. The name of the game is “Spot 50.”
I name the state of a plate on the back of a van. Kate can name nine. “Spot 50” is a fun game.

It is late when we get to the lake. The cabin is on Fox Lane.
We are just in time to see the sun set. Dad will make a fire in a fireplace. Mom will make dinner. Kate will bake a cake.

I like the time I spend at the lake. It is the best landscape!

Decodable Passages
Bad Dog!

I have a big dog named Ed. Ed is not very well behaved. Ed likes chasing my cat up a hill. Ed loves to get wet, and he can make a big mess when he is diving in a fish pond. Ed loves digging, and Mom got mad when he was hiding a bone and dug up her big, red plant. Ed is a big pest, and it is best if he is locked in his fenced pen.

The problem is that his yapping and whining is driving all of us nuts. Ed has never liked being by himself for a second. I am planning to take him on a run. If I biked beside him, he would get tired. Then he would be dozing instead of making a fuss.

Making A Dog Listen

If you have a dog, you know that making him listen can be like a game. Call his name. A dog can tell what you want, but making him do it can take a lot of time. Using a hand signal can make him listen. Facing a dog can help. Stating the same command over and over is important. It is confusing if you are not using the same command each time.

You can make a dog listen by placing a hand on his rump and telling him to “sit.” If a dog is jumping in a lake, licking your hand, or chasing a cat instead of listening, he is still hoping you will be pleased. Like him for the loving pal he is.

 activités

What would you do with Ed, the dog, to get him to behave?
Eight At Last!

I am eight! It is the greatest day of my life! To celebrate, Mom and Dad will take me to ride the Big Wave. They say I must be this tall and weigh this much and be this age to get in, but today is the day! Today I will play with the big kids. I will have a great time.

I waited my whole life for this time. Do not make me wait! It can rain. It can hail. A quake will not make me late! I am on my way to ride the Big Wave!

Mom and Dad will take my sis Dale with me. Dale is ten. Dale hates the Big Wave. No way! Today Dale will be brave and play with me. Dale will like it. It will be great!

Great-grandma, Gail

Dad got an email from Great-grandma. She will visit us in May. She will take a train and stay for five days. Great-grandma, Gail, will visit on my birthday. Mom says my neighbor, Jake, will be in for cake. Then Kay, Gabe, and I can play all day.

I tell Amy and Gabe.

“I can not wait to see Great-grandma,” I say.

“Maybe she has a cane,” says Kay.

“Maybe she will stay a day,” says Gabe.

As the train stops, I strain to see. Is Great-grandma a small lady with gray hair?

“Hey!” says Dad. He waves to a lady with a backpack.

Great-grandma?

At home, Kay and Gabe are playing a game with Jake.

“Who is the lady in the red top?” asks Kay.

“Great-grandma,” I say.

“She is a great Great-grandma!” says Gabe.

Tell where you would like to go for a special birthday celebration.
Fun Classes

I take fun classes with Miss Day. I like all kinds of lessons. I like it when I use paints. Miss Day sets out dishes and then mixes paints so ten kids can see how to make colors. Miss Day passes six dishes to Jake and Dale. I like it when Miss Day picks red and yellow to make all kinds of colors.

I like to play with clay. I am making six fishes. They have fins and tails. Miss Day says she will mix five glazes to get the flashes of color on five fishes. I can not wait to see fishes swimming on my walls!

I like to take fun classes!

Paint Jobs

It is fall, and Dad is painting our cabin. Dad mixes ten cans of paint with a long stick, like he is making a cake. Dad has lots of brushes in lots of sizes. Dad can paint six walls.

Dad uses five pine planks to fix the cabin, too. He paints five planks red. It is a big job, but Dad says I am a big help. I get him rags and pails. I make him sandwiches for his lunches, and I get him glasses of water when he wants a rest.

I paint a frame and I wash the brushes.

“Painters work hard,” says Dad, “and so do helpers.”

Dad gives me ten hugs!

ACTIVITY Underline the words ending in ch or sh that add –es to make them plural. ☆
My Mom!

It is a cold day. The sun is low and it glows red. Mom is in a boat. She holds both oars.

“Do you want to go for a ride?” she says.

I go, but it is so cold. I have on two coats. I have on thick socks, and I still can not feel my toes. My nose feels like it will break off and fall in my cocoa. Mom rows past the rocks. We watch as the sun rises up and up.

“Let’s go for a swim,” says Mom.

She must be joking! But no. She pops out of her robe and dives over a side. I see her glide with big strokes. I float for a bit and then row over to pick her up.

She gets in the boat and shakes her shoulders like a dog. Then she throws on a poncho.

“Cold!” she says. “I hope you saved me some cocoa.”

Going Fishing

Joe goes to the dock. He is carrying a red bag and has a big coat over his shoulders. The mist is cold. Joe can hear the drone of a fog horn. He can see a glow from the lighthouse as it flashes over the rocks. He can smell the salty aroma of fish and kelp.

“Mind the rope!” yells Nate. Nate is loading ice into the hold of a fishing boat at the dock.

Joe steps out of the way with a quick hop.

“Sorry, mate,” says Joe. “Do you know where I can find the captain?”

“Oh, hello, Joe,” says Nate. “Dave is on board.”

Joe boards the boat and finds the captain going over his notes.

“Great, Joe,” says Dad. “I can use a coat as it gets cold!”

Activity

Underline the words with o sound spelled oa and ow.
The Hike

Bly went on a hike with her family. They hiked on a trail beside High Lake. It was a nice, sunny day. The sky was bright blue and filled with big, white clouds. Bly hoped to see butterflies. She knew butterflies liked sunshine.

After hiking for a while, the family stopped to rest. Bly thought it was fun to lie in the grass and look at the sky. Suddenly Bly saw something fly by. It was an orange butterfly with black stripes on its wings! The butterfly landed on some wildflowers nearby. Then Bly saw another butterfly. This butterfly had light yellow wings.

When it was time to go home, Bly didn’t mind. She had seen nine beautiful butterflies.

Mike’s Kite

There are many kinds of kites in different shapes and sizes. Mike has a butterfly kite. His kite is purple with white dots along the side of each wing. It is 34 inches wide and 23 inches high. Mike’s friend Niles helped Mike tie a line to the kite.

Then the friends went to the park. Mike let Niles try flying the kite. The kite flew right out of Nile’s hand! It was out of sight! The boys ran to find the kite and saw it behind a cherry tree.

The kite was fine. No cherries had fallen on it. Soon Niles had the kite flying high in the sky. This time, he kept a tight hold on the line. Both boys smiled as their butterfly took flight.

ACTIVITY Write about something you like to do outdoors.☆
New Tune

The music teacher at Andrew’s school, Ms. Luce, has been teaching Andrew to play the flute. The first time Andrew blew across the holes in his flute, nothing happened! But with a few more tries, Andrew made music! Today Andrew plays the flute very well.

Ms. Luce wants Andrew to play his flute in the Flag Day parade in June. So Andrew has to learn to play a new tune. Andrew plays his flute at home every night. He plays the tune over and over. His brother Luke exclaims, “Too much tune!”

Huge Balloons

New York has a big parade on Thanksgiving Day. Many people tune in to watch the parade on TV. Marching bands play music. People on floats wave. Huge balloons glide high in the air. Many of these balloons are cute animals such as a pig, frog, or mouse.

Each of the huge balloons needs a crew to move it down the streets. One balloon may need 70 people. All balloons have ropes on them. The people use the ropes to keep the balloons from flying away.

In the past, strong winds blew a balloon into the crowd. Persons in charge of the parade knew this was bad. Now balloon workers train in New Jersey for a few days. They must be strong. Flying huge balloons is hard work.

🌟 Activity 🌟 Write what you like best about a parade. ★

Decodable Passages
My Bunny Story

My class wrote stories about animals. Pam wrote about her two kitties. Josh wrote about the ponies on his farm. Tony wrote about the puppies he saw at an animal shelter.

I wrote about the wild bunnies in my yard. Some of the bunnies were babies. I saw the bunnies eat grass, leaves, and berries. Mom wouldn’t let me feed them cherries. She said sweet fruit wasn’t good for bunnies.

I also saw the bunnies eating flowers. Mom didn’t want the bunnies to eat the pansies and daisies in her garden. So she put a fence around them. One bunny started digging under the fence. But Mom quickly chased it away. After many tries, however, the bunny made it into the garden and had a yummy snack.

A Fairy Tale

I read a story about fairies. The fairies in the story had faces like daisies. So they were called the Daisies. They had yellow faces and white hair. The moms had white wings. The dads had blue wings. And the babies had no wings at all.

The Daisies liked to have parties. They would invite fairy families from other cities to their parties. All the fairies in the story were tiny. At their parties, the Daisy family used pennies for plates and little sticks for spoons.

At one party, the fairies ate small slices of blueberries and strawberries. They also ate spoonfuls of orange jelly and grape jelly. All the fairies thought the jellies were the best treat of all.

ACTIVITY Write about a snack or treat you like to eat.
Sweet Peaches

Last week, Minnie and her little sister Eve went to a farm stand. Minnie bought some beets, peas, and green beans at one booth. She was happy to find sunflower seeds at another booth.

Eve went to a different booth to look at peaches. She picked up one peach and felt its fuzzy skin. It smelled sweet. Eve wanted to buy this peach. But she didn’t have any money. Minnie had enough money, however, to buy three peaches.

The day was hot and sunny. Eve and Minnie wanted to get out of the heat. So they sat under a big tree in the shade. Each girl ate a peach. Then they went home with very sticky fingers.

Baby Animals

Pete went to see the baby animals on his uncle’s farm. He saw his uncle in the field with a flock of sheep. There were many white lambs. But three of the lambs were black. All of the lambs were keeping close to their mothers.

Pete’s uncle told Pete to meet him in the barn. There Pete saw a donkey with her baby. Pete was pleased to help his uncle feed the donkey.

Next, Pete went to see chicks hatch. Pete had never seen chicks hatch. Pecking through the eggs wasn’t easy. The chicks were weak and needed to rest. But later these fuzzy babies were on their feet and making little peeps.

Pete was sad to leave the farm. But he hoped to visit again very soon.

Activity Circle the words with the long e sound. Then use as many as you can in a story. ★
Gus

Lily worries about her puppy Gus. One day, she gives Gus a new toy. Gus carries the toy to the couch. He pushes the toy under the couch. Then Gus tries to get the toy. But he cannot reach it. So he cries. Lily hurries to see why he’s crying. She finds the toy and gives it to Gus. Gus scurries away and goes outside.

A short time later, Lily looked out the window. She saw Gus digging in the dirt. He had buried his toy!

The next day, Lily heard a noise in the kitchen. She hurried to the kitchen and saw Gus eating puppy treats! He had pried the lid off a box of treats with his teeth. Lily looked at Gus and said, “What next?”

Dog Pictures

My friend Leon takes pictures of dogs. He tries to take pictures of different breeds. He studies the breeds in books. After he takes a picture, he copies it on his computer. Leon has copied many pictures for me of my dog.

Leon never worries about a dog moving. He just waits until the dog is still to take the picture. He never hurries.

Sometimes Leon works outside. One time, it rained. So Leon dried the dog with a towel. Then he tried taking the picture again.

Leon has studied how to take pictures. He entered one of his pictures in a contest. But he worried if it was good enough. Yes, it was. Leon’s picture won first prize!

★ ACTIVITY ★ Write about your dog or a friend’s dog. ★
Skateboarding

Carmen lives close to her best friend. Their houses are only a half a block apart. Carmen does not always walk to her friend’s house. Sometimes she gets there on her skateboard.

To keep from getting hurt, Carmen knows what to wear. So she always wears a helmet. She also wears knee pads and wrist guards. Both have straps and are easy to fasten.

One autumn day, Carmen and her friend go to watch skaters at a skateboard park. The girls find the sign for the park and go in. The skaters’ tricks are amazing. But one skater gets hurt. He doesn’t fall. He gets stung! A bee stings him on his thumb! Now he knows his wrist guards don’t protect thumbs.

Baking Pies

I once heard a funny ghost story. The ghost in the story had a strange hobby. It liked to bake rhubarb pies. The ghost lived in a prince’s castle. At night, the prince would listen for sounds in the kitchen. Then a sweet scent would fill the air.

The prince knew what would happen next. There would be a knock on his bedroom door. Then the ghost would gnarl and try to frighten him. Next the ghost would whistle a happy tune.

Finally the prince would leave his room and follow crumbs to the kitchen. There he would find two rhubarb pies. The pies’ crusts were always burned. But the prince would eat half of one pie anyway.

I doubt this story is true. What do you think?

Activity Write what you know about a sport or hobby.
The Squid

The squid is a strange sea animal. It has a huge head, eight arms, two tentacles, and a sharp beak. It eats shrimp, fish, and other squid. When feeding, a squid stretches out its strong tentacles to grab prey. It uses its arms to squeeze and hold onto the prey. Scientists have studied the squid’s beak. It is powerful and very hard. It is not easy to scratch or bend this beak.

This sea creature protects itself from a threat by squirting ink. The splash of ink helps the squid hide from enemies. A squid also hides from enemies by changing the color of its skin.

Squids live deep in the ocean and breathe through gills. They are fast swimmers and streak through the water at high speeds.

Tasha’s Fish

Tasha had fun making fish in school. First she spread scraps of colored paper on her desk. Next she cut out three squares and two circles. Then she drew a fish with stripes on each square. She drew fish with spots on the circles.

After that, Tasha cut five pieces of thread. With her teacher’s help, Tasha pushed a line of thread through a hole in each shape. Then she tied each shape to a hanger. Last of all, she tied a string to the hanger and hung it from the ceiling.

Tasha looked up at her fish. The fish were moving in the air. To Tasha, they looked as if they were swimming in a stream. Her teacher looked at Tasha’s fish and said, “What splendid fish!”

ACTIVITY Write about an animal you like that lives in water.☆
Bobbie Likes Bugs

Bobbie likes to read about insects. He thinks the cricket is a great bug. One kind of cricket is the House Cricket. A House Cricket happens to live in the kitchen of Bobbie’s house. Crickets will go inside a house during a cold winter.

In the summer at night, Bobbie hears crickets chirping outside. They make chirps by rubbing the top of one wing along the bottom of the other wing. Only the male cricket can make sounds.

Crickets don’t fly. But they can jump great distances. Crickets hear and see well. They have big eyes called compound eyes. Sometimes huge groups of crickets eat crops and garden plants. These crickets become pests.

Bobbie knows many facts about crickets. Next he wants to learn about hornets.

The Black Mamba

Wanda heard about a writing contest. The subject of the writing had to be a reptile. The winner of the contest would win a ticket to a film about reptiles.

Wanda wrote about a snake called the black mamba. The black mamba is a brown snake. Only the inside of its mouth is black.

Black mambas live in Africa. Most are eight feet long. But some black mambas are fourteen feet long! The black mamba has a deadly bite. Sometimes it will attack a person or animal. But it really is shy and will try to escape.

Wanda told these facts and more in her writing. Wanda did not expect to win the contest. But she did win! The ticket in her mail was a big surprise.

Activity Choose an insect or a reptile and write about it.
Sounds

One morning Seth listened for sounds around his house. He made a list of the sounds he heard. He was on a mission to record ten sounds.

First Seth went into the den. There he heard his cat scratching on a cloth chair. He chased the cat out the cat door and heard the door shut.

Next Seth heard the banging of pans coming from the kitchen. At the same time, the phone rang. Then Seth heard laughing and shouting and opened the kitchen window. Children were playing with a basketball. The ball was landing with a thump. Birds were chirping. And a bell was clanging.

Then Seth saw his puppy Shadow behind a hedge. Shadow started to whine. And Seth added this last sound to his list.

Sharks

Have you seen a photo of a shark with an open mouth? Its mouth would have been full of teeth with sharp edges. Scientists have measured the pressure of shark jaws to learn about its bite. Some sharks have a very strong bite!

The ears of a shark are inside its head. There are hairs in each ear. These hairs help a shark sense sounds with a low pitch.

A shark’s best sense is smell. A shark moves its head back and forth when swimming. This helps it find a scent. Then the shark knows which way to swim for food. Its tough skin helps it swim quickly.

Sharks can’t see far ahead. Mostly they see changes in light and shadow. That’s why sight is not an important sense.

★ACTIVITY★ Describe something you have heard or smelled. ★
Guessing Game

Janet and David played a guessing game. David began the game. His first clue was, “I am a white bear.” Janet’s guess was polar bear. David’s second clue was, “I am a wild cat with stripes. I am a silent hunter.” Janet guessed tiger. She knew the next answer was camel. The clue was, “I travel across the desert.” Then David said, “You will never guess this one. I am a playful river animal.” Janet did not guess river otter.

Janet’s clues were about humans. David guessed all of them correctly. Here are her clues and answers. “I am seven months old.” (baby) “I make people laugh.” (comic) “I fly rockets.” (pilot)

Soon Janet and David will visit Aunt Judy. Then they will play the game again.

A New Game

Last weekend, Kevin and Susan went to Lazy Lake with their parents. They stayed in a cabin in a beautiful forest. At first, Dad couldn’t find the key to the cabin. But then he found it in his pocket.

After dinner, Kevin and Susan wanted to play a game. They looked in a closet and noticed a metal box. Kevin opened the box and saw a game called “Robot.” The children decided to play the game. They had never played it before.

Susan set the game on a table in the living room. First, each player tossed a number cube. The person with the highest number would begin the game. Kevin won the toss. But Susan won the game.

Activity Write about a game you like to play.
Earl the Bird

Earl was a bird with a dream. He wanted to be a nurse.

“No way, Earl,” said Fern. “It is not easy for a bird to turn into a nurse.”

“First, you have to go to school. You have to learn. You must learn about germs and dirt.”

Fern was happy just being a bird. But she was right. It is work for a bird to turn into a nurse. That did not stop Earl. He knew that it would not be easy to be a nurse. “I am sure I can make my dream come true.” he said. “Someday I will be a nurse.”

Earl did work and he did learn. He even learned about germs. Earl made his dream come true.

A Turn in the Race

Chet heard the bell. The race began. He made a good start.

Chet started his run at the end of the pack. “It is a long race,” he said to himself.

“I will go slow at first and speed up at the end. I have trained hard and I would like to win.”

At the first turn, Chet started to worry. “I run fast, but all the runners run fast. This win is not going to be easy.”

Chet moved to the front of the pack. The runner next to him moved closer. Chet felt her put on a burst of speed.

“She will be the one to watch at the end of the race,” Chet knew. “I am not the only one who wants to be first.”

A Good Plan

“We’re off to the pond,” Jake called. “Come on!”
“That’s a great idea,” said Barb. “We’ll play ball there.”
“I can’t go,” Reg spoke up. “I have to ask my mom.”
Barb knew what to say about that. “We’ll just stop by your house and ask her.”
“She’s at work. There’s no way to ask her.” Reg looked down at his feet.
“That’s not right!” cried out Barb. “I can go.”
Reg mumbled, “I’m sorry.”
“Let’s go this one time! We aren’t going to swim.” Barb did not want to give up.
“That’s not a good idea,” said Jake. “We can play tag here now. We’ll go to the pond tomorrow.”
“You’re right. That’s a good plan. You’re it!” she called out.

Kia and Mia at Home

Kia and Mia are at home. As always, Kia has an idea.
“I’m hungry,” she said. “Let’s make a snack.”
“But we don’t know how to make food! We’ll need to learn the rules first,” Mia says.
“That isn’t a problem. It’ll be a breeze. Who needs to learn rules?” Kia was happy with her idea.
Mia was not as sure, “Well…. I don’t know. It does not seem safe, but we can give it a try.”
Kia looks around. “Is this the stove?”
“Uh-oh. I’m not happy about this so far” says Mia. “Let’s forget the stove. We’ll have tea. What is this bag for? I can’t tell! I think we’re making a mistake.”
“Well, you are right! Let’s have an apple.” Kia laughed.

Activity

The Long Walk

Mara set off for a long walk. It was late in the day and she wore a coat. This was the part of the day she liked best. She liked to be outdoors before the day turned cold. The days were getting short. It would get dark early and there would be no light for a walk outside.

Spring was nice, but Mara liked fall more. The trees were turning red and the sky was a deep blue. She looked up and spotted four black dots. They were birds soaring in the sky. Mara knew that she would soon see the harvest moon. She took one last look and headed home.

Before Fall

In the fall, the chipmunks have a meeting.

“Soon fall will be over,” says Chips. “We need to get to work before it is cold. We must find acorns and seeds and store them in a nest.”

“Of course we will help,” say Flip and Skip. “We love to help!”

Skip and Flip got busy. They tore around looking for food. Flip soared to the top of a tree and found four acorns. He tossed them down and hit Skip on the nose. Skip added more and hid them in the nest. They worked until it got dark.

“Do we need more?” asked Skip. “I can work until I am sore!”

Chip was right. It was soon cold. But the chipmunks had lots of food and they were warm in their nest.

Not Fair!

Liz sat in a chair doing her homework. But not for long. Her baby brother Jo came in and sat near her. In two minutes her books, papers, and backpack are a mess!

“Mom!” she called. “Come and get Jo! He will not leave my stuff alone.” Liz says her baby brother is a pain.

Mom came in and took Jo out of the room. There were tears in his eyes.

“He is just a baby, dear,” Mom said as she goes out.

“I don’t care. It is not fair!” Liz was still upset.

After a few minutes Liz went over to the bookcase. She took the books out of the low spaces. Then she found some animal toys. They were old but she could not bear to give them away.

“Jo,” she called. “Come on in. I found a way to share.”

A Tree Can Share

The pear tree in Tom’s back yard looks bad. It has no pears. The brown bark is dry. The branches are bare. The tree is dear to Mom and Tom. Mom likes to sit on a chair near the tree. Tom likes to play under the tree.

“What can we do about our fair tree? It always brings cheer most of the year,” said Mom.

“It needs care,” Tom said. But he did not know how to care for his dear tree.

Then one day a bird flies to the tree. It makes sounds of cheer. Then another bird comes. The pair make a nest. They make the tree happy. Soon Tom sees green on the tree. He sees pears. The bark looks fine.

“This tree just needs to share!” said Tom.

The Phone Call

“In! Are you busy?” calls Mom. “Come on inside. This is a good time to call Sis.”

“Okay, Mom, I’m coming,” Lia says.

“Here is her number. It is before six, but she should be home.” Lia picks up the phone and puts in the number. “There is no answer. She must be outside.”

“It’s okay. Just wait for the beep and then talk. Hang up when your call is complete. You can do it. Be sure to include all that you want to say before you hang up,” says Mom.

Lia waits for the beep. “There it is! There’s the beep! Hi Sis! It’s me, Lia. I am calling to thank you for the DVD. It is just what I wanted. You are a cool sister and you give great treats.”

“Good job, Lia. You did it alone,” says Mom.

“Thanks, Mom. It was a breeze.”

Snow!

Chase wakes up and looks out the window. There is white snow on the surface of the land! Chase has been waiting all winter for this day. He wants to go on his sled before the snow is gone.

“You must eat breakfast first,” says Mom. “And it should include something hot.” So Chase eats.

“And make sure to wear something warm,” Mom adds.

So Chase puts on a hat, gloves, and a coat. Then Chase has to find his sled. He looks all over for it. He has to look alone. It takes a long time. He finds it!

“Now! I am finally ready to escape to the outside.”

Joy Looks for Mouse

Joy looks around every room of the house. She looks for Mouse. Joy is always looking for Mouse. Joy has many toys, but Mouse is the toy she loves most. She likes to have Mouse with her all the time.

Mouse is old, soiled, and gray. Mouse is not cute.

“Wow!” Joy gives a shout. “I found Mouse.”

“Oh, give up that mouse, Joy,” says her brother Roy. “Play with another toy. How can you be so silly? You act like a big baby.”

Joy frowns. She looks at Mouse. She looks at Roy. Joy does not want to act like a baby. But Joy loves Mouse.

Joy gives Mouse a hug and bounces out to join her other toys.

A Good Duck

The ducks at Farmer Roy’s are good ducks. They do not make noise. They do not stray far from the farm. They stay away from the plow. They walk with care.

Scout is one of these good ducks. But Scout wants to fly. “I vow I will fly someday,” she says.

The other ducks frown. “You will do no such thing!” one says. “Good ducks do not fly. You are a good duck.”

“Good ducks do not bounce around. They walk slowly on the ground. They do not clown around,” says another.

“Don’t even think of it,” they add.

But one day Scout goes to the far end of the field. She opens her wings and runs. Up into the clouds she soars. It is a lovely trip.

“I liked that,” she smiles. Then she joins the other ducks. She is a good duck.

Color

Most of us have a color we like best or a color we dislike. A color might make us feel some way. Colors tell us what we need to know. Let’s share ideas about colors.

Anna likes blue best. It cheers her up when she is unhappy. Just seeing blue makes Anna smile.

Joel thinks that red is his lucky color. He has some lucky red socks. He would not want his socks to disappear. It would be unlucky. He might misspell a word on a spelling test! What nonsense!

Some people just dislike a color! Hank dislikes green. It would be unlikely for Hank to wear green.

All three know that colors can tell what is safe and what is unsafe. Red means danger. It would be unsafe to move on. Yellow tells us that it might be unwise to take a chance. Green? Okay to go!

Today is the Day!

“Today is the day!” Kay said. “What shall we do?”

Every Saturday Kay and her Aunt Mar spend the day together. They go to neat places and always have a good time. They discover great spots on the trips.

“I have two plans.” said Aunt Mar. “We can take that long bike ride on the bike path. I know that you like bike riding. Or we can go to the art show. They have pictures my school group drew.’

Kay took time to think. She did like bike riding nonstop! But she knew that Aunt Mar disliked it. She felt unsafe on long bike trips. And Kay knew that Aunt Mar liked art shows the best. Kay wanted to bike, but she did not want to make Aunt Mar unhappy. They never disagreed about where to go.

“I know,” she said. “Let’s ride our bikes to the art show. Then we can ride home.”

Soup for Lunch

Brook was playing outside on a cool day. At noon, she went inside for lunch. Dad had made soup for the family. Her dad was a good cook. On this day, he had made a new kind of soup. He had read about this soup in a cookbook. Dad had also made blueberry muffins. Blueberries were Brook’s favorite fruit.

Brook could hardly wait to eat. But soon everyone was at the table. Brook put a few bits of cracker in her soup. The soup was a little too hot. So Brook blew across her spoon to cool it.

Everyone enjoyed the new soup. Dad had made a huge pot of the soup. Brook was very happy. She knew there would be enough soup for second helpings.

Food for Birds

Last July, I noticed a group of blue jays on our deck. My mom had hung a tube feeder there with seeds in it. Mom also threw some seeds on the floor of the deck. The blue jays ate only those seeds. They were too big to sit on the tube feeder.

Mom and I looked in a bird book. I learned a few things about blue jays. They also eat nuts, acorns, and fruits. A female blue jay lays four or five eggs. At first, she stays in the nest with the baby birds. So the male brings food to her and to the baby birds.

I saw photos of baby blue jays. They were so cute. I hoped we would see them in a nest.

By the Sea

Mickey and Bonnie live in a seacoast town. One day, they went looking for seashells. The sand was very hot. So they hurried across it on tiptoe. During their walk, they picked up seashells and seaweed. Bonnie found fifteen seashells. Mickey found thirteen.

Soon daylight started to fade away. Then the children followed their toe prints to go home. On the way, they saw waves spraying water against a cliff. The sunlight in the spray had made a rainbow! Mickey and Bonnie had seen rainbows in valleys. But they had never seen a sea spray rainbow. It was a peaceful sight. They enjoyed the beautiful colors.

There are stories about gold at the end of rainbows. Maybe the children found gold that day. Do you believe they did?

Charlie’s Seafood Place

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Jersey went out to eat. They always liked to go to Charlie’s Seafood Place. It was raining hard that night. So Mr. and Mrs. Jersey wore their yellow raincoats.

At Charlie’s Place, they hung their coats on the coatrack. Then they sat down at a table by a window. They looked at the photos of old lighthouses on the walls. Soon a waiter brought their meal of seafood. He brought a little teapot for Mrs. Jersey. She poured tea into her teacup and added a little honey. Mr. Jersey had a cup of coffee.

Two men on a small stage started playing banjoes. It was a joyful sound. And everyone was feeling happy.

Sick Boy

My friend Paul is sick. He has a cough and sore throat. Paul thinks he caught a cold at school. He can’t talk at all. So instead of talking, he writes notes on a small chalkboard.

Paul’s mom wants him to drink a lot of water. And she made some salty chicken soup for him. Soon Paul was yawning.

I called to tell Paul about our baseball team. Our team, the Hawks, won today’s game. And I hit a ball over the wall of the park! Paul’s mom went to tell Paul this news. But Paul had fallen asleep.

Because he was sick, I bought a card for Paul. Everyone in the class signed it. This made Paul feel much better.

Hurt Pet

Most mornings, Dawn’s pet bunny runs to her. Dawn calls her bunny Salt. This is because he’s white. But one morning, Salt was having trouble walking. He kept licking a back paw. Dawn looked at his foot and saw a broken claw.

Dawn called her vet. The vet asked how Salt had broken his claw. Dawn wasn’t sure of the cause. She thought for a minute. Maybe Salt had caught his claw on the rug. The vet wanted to see Salt. So Dawn brought him to the vet that day.

The vet treated Salt’s paw. Salt wasn’t hurt badly. Dawn was happy to take her bunny home. At home, Salt ate his parsley and drank some water. Soon he was running up and down the hall very fast!

Activity Write about a time when you or a pet was sick.
Telescopes

Oscar had homework. His teacher had asked the class to watch a television show about science. Then she wanted each student to write a paragraph about it. Oscar loved looking through his brother’s telescope. So he was pleased to find a television show about telescopes.

While watching the show, Oscar took notes with a pencil. Oscar had learned something interesting about pencils from another television show. Pencils are no longer made with lead. Today they are made with a material called graphite.

Using his notes, Oscar wrote his paragraph on a computer. After that, he took a photograph of his brother’s telescope. It was easy to take the picture with an automatic camera. Then Oscar called his grandfather on the telephone. He told him all about his homework.

Museums

Last summer, my family visited museums. We saw old automobiles. One automobile had a seat on the outside. It was at the back with no top over it. A sign described the automobile. One paragraph told about the seat. It’s called a rumble seat. I took a photograph of this automobile.

Then we went to see airplanes. I had seen a television show about the Wright brothers. These men invented and flew the first airplane. We saw their plane!

We also saw jets. I learned about autopilot. Sometimes pilots set the autopilot to keep a jet at a certain speed. They may also use autopilot during bad weather to land. This is an autolanding.

Before leaving, I bought a book about jets. I noticed the author’s autograph in it.

Activity

Write about something you learned from a television show.
The Deer

One evening my sister Rose saw a herd of deer in our backyard. The deer were standing by some rows of corn. There were eight deer in all. Two of the deer were fawns. Rose knew about this kind of deer. She had read about them.

Rose told me facts about these deer. They are white-tailed deer. Their coats are red-brown in the summer and gray-brown in the winter. Only the males have antlers. Each year, they shed their antlers. Then they grow new ones. Males are called bucks. Females are does. I didn’t know this.

Rose and I ate dinner. Then about an hour later, we went to look at the deer again. But the deer heard us and ran away. “Oh dear, no deer,” Rose said.

The Bears

Alaska’s Denali National Park had many visitors last year. Some rode buses through the park on a 90-mile road. They hoped to see the American black bear and other wild animals along the way.

Black bears eat mostly plants, berries, and insects. But they’ll eat fish, too. In the winter, there is little food. The land and bushes are bare. Then a bear knows what to do. It will find a den, sleep, and wait for warmer weather.

A male black bear can weigh 600 pounds. It may be 60 inches long from nose to tail. The female is smaller. Her weight is about 150 pounds. Around age four, a female usually has two cubs. Cubs stay with her for two years. Visitors must leave mother bears alone.

Activity

Write about a wild animal you have seen.

A Special Painting

My cousin Martin is an artist. I admire his talent. I went to visit him last summer in Vermont. One morning, I watched him paint. He drew a sketch before beginning to paint.

Then he painted a cheerful person. Martin always painted happy pictures. The person in this painting was a young girl. She was sitting in a big, purple armchair. There was a birdcage beside her and a fireplace behind her. The bird in the cage was a blackbird.

The girl clearly looked like me. Martin gave me the painting to keep. The girl in his painting was me! Martin named the painting “My Cousin Arlene.” I could hardly wait to show my friends the painting.

The Birdhouse

Doris and her dad made a birdhouse. On Thursday, they bought lumber at a hardware store. At home, Dad sawed the wood into parts. Then he helped Doris hammer the parts together. She was careful not to hit her fingers.

Later they returned to the hardware store to buy paint. Doris chose orange paint. After painting the birdhouse, they let the paint dry. Then Doris wanted to hang the birdhouse on the corner of the porch. But it was pouring rain. So they waited until the next day.

On Friday morning, Doris looked out the window. She saw a rabbit in the garden and a squirrel in a tree. Then she saw a bluebird go into the birdhouse! Doris thought her dad was an expert maker of birdhouses.

Mountains Roads

Bruce told me about his recent trip to Colorado. He drove from the city of Denver into the mountains. First he got maps at a visitor center. Then he checked the weather. Weather can change quickly on mountain roads. In bad weather, he would be in danger.

Most roads were steep with sharp curves. Bruce had to drive at a slow pace. Long ago, cars couldn’t make it up these roads. Their engines were weak. And there were few places for cars to leave a road and stop.

On one road, Bruce was close to the edge. The road was narrow with ledges on the side of the mountain. There was never a chance to pass another car. Bruce knew the danger. He was smart not to pass.

The Virginia Quarter

My class was studying coins. Cindy found a book about coins in the library. Some pages had pictures of U.S. coins. Cindy shared facts about the quarter. A quarter is worth 25 cents. It does not have a smooth edge. A quarter has 119 ridges on its edge. President George Washington’s head is on the front of the quarter. His head faces the left side of the coin.

Since 1999, the backs of quarters have changed. The backs of the new quarters celebrate our 50 states. Cindy was excited to see the quarter for our state of Virginia. Thousands of Virginia citizens suggested ideas for the back. The chosen design shows three ships. These ships brought the first settlers from England to Jamestown, Virginia.

Activity Write what you like about your state.
Which Dog?

James wanted to adopt a dog. There were three animal shelters in nearby towns. James went to the shelter closest to his house. It was the biggest one with the most dogs.

Of all the dogs at the shelter, James liked the smallest dogs. To him, they were the cutest. He liked two dogs, Jack and Jill, very much. Jack had darker fur than Jill. And his coat was thicker. Jack also had shorter legs and a longer tail. And he was younger than Jill.

Jack really was the prettier of the two dogs. Jill did have a thinner coat and a shorter tail. But James didn’t care. He adopted Jill. He decided to give the older dog a home. And she was much friendlier than Jack.

Frogs and Toads

Emma wrote about the differences between frogs and toads. The back legs of a frog are longer and stronger than a toad’s legs. And a toad has a wider body than a frog. Frogs live near water. So they have wetter skin. Their skin is smoother and slimier. Toads don’t live near water. This makes their skin drier.

Emma described the giant toad, green toad, Mexican treefrog, and barking frog. The giant toad is one of the largest toads in the world. The green toad has green and yellow circles on its back. The Mexican treefrog has the stickiest toes of all frogs.

To Emma, the green toad is the prettiest of the four. And the barking frog is the strangest. It sounds like a dog!

Activity Write about the differences between a pet cat and a tiger.
The Camel

A camel is an incredible animal. It is able to handle extreme heat, little food and water, and lots of hot sand.

The sun beats down and there is not even a little puddle of water to drink. A camel has no trouble. The fat in its hump helps it control the water level in its body. It can also jiggle its internal body heat up or down to stay at the right level. When the camel gets a chance to drink, it guzzles gallons of water to store for later.

Long eyelashes protect the camel’s pupils from blowing particles of grit and dust. Padded feet help make the camel able to stand the burning sand. It does not stumble in deep sand.

If you travel in the desert, take a camel with you!

A Fable

One day, a tradesman loaded his camel with as much as he was able to hold. Then he added a little table, a fiddle, and a metal candle stick.

“Don’t wiggle,” said the tradesman. “I’ll buckle a strap around your middle so the load won’t wobble.”

The camel felt his legs tremble, but he did not even mumble a complaint.

“All set,” said the tradesman. “Shall we go up the hill or down?”

“I will stumble on the rocky trail,” said the camel. “And I will tumble on the steep slope. So I say we travel on the level path.”

“Good thinking,” said the tradesman. He picked up the bridle and off they went.

The moral of this story is, “The simple way can be the best way.”

Clueless with Mabel

Taking care of my lovable little sister, Mabel, used to be painless. She was helpless, and I liked being helpful. It was all doable until I had a grand plan. It seemed so harmless at the time.

Mabel was in a playful mood. I decided to teach her to walk. I am so thoughtful! Mabel held my hands and started to toddle across the room. I let go, and Mabel took a tumble. I braced myself for the painful scream, but Mabel was as cheerful as ever. I was speechless! She gave me a toothless smile and tried again.

Now Mabel is tireless! It is pointless to even try to sit down for a second. Taking care of Mabel is still enjoyable, but it is a lot more work.

Rules for Sitters

Taking care of kids can be stressful. You will find this out when you take care of kids yourself. You think you will be the cheerful, playful, lovable sitter of your dreams. But it is not that simple.

For one thing, the second the grown-ups leave, children can be tempted to get into mischief. Even the most delightful, well-behaved child gets a powerful urge to act silly. But when children start acting silly, they get careless. When they are not careful, accidents happen. These accidents are predictable and preventable.

It is pointless to give kids a list of rules and hope they can remember to follow them. Just try to stay away from breakable things, and be respectful. Respect yourself, and respect others. This will keep avoidable accidents from happening.

Activity What kind of sitter would you be? Write about it.
Winter Preparations

In the northern parts of the United States, winter brings icy temperatures. The freeze can last for months. Families that live in the north where wintry weather is worst are familiar with actions they must take to winterize their homes. They make preparations before the arrival of the cold snap.

Safety comes first. One thing to prepare for is a power outage. A powerful flashlight with replacement batteries will be useful. A wood stove or fireplace can heat the house if the heater isn’t working. Use an extra comforter on the bed—the electric blanket will not keep you comfortable if the electricity goes out.

Make sure your household is prepared when a bad storm gets worse. When it comes to safety, you do not want to be standing out in the cold.

Farm and Garden

Gardening is a fun hobby. It can also be an interesting job. Gardeners care for plants and flowers. Farmers are in the garden business, too. They grow plants, vines, or flowers. They take care of flowering trees that produce fruit.

Caring for plantings keeps gardeners and farmers busy even in the winter. They plant seeds and care for seedlings. They maintain the plants’ growth and protect them from extreme heat or cold. When the plants have grown, the fruit is harvested.

Harvesting means picking the fruits and vegetables or cutting the flowers. Farmers take the harvest to market to sell. Gardeners share their harvest with their household. Nothing is nicer than a house filled with fresh-cut, home-grown flowers, and nothing is tastier than produce you grew yourself.

A Summer Day

Tony and his family arrive early. They want to get a good view of the parade.

“There is nothing like a parade on a summer day,” says Tony’s dad. He predicted that it would be crowded. His prediction came true! There are many people there. They settle down to talk about other parades. They each have a memory.

Tony remembers the band. The music was good. And they looked great. The uniforms transformed them into a real band. They marched in perfect form.

Sis remembered the kids riding their bicycles on the street behind the parade. She wants to cycle with them this year. Mom says she is still too little. Maybe next year!

Summer Camp

Dear Stacy,

Here I am at summer camp. The other campers are really nice. I have made many new friends. I sleep in a bunk bed. It is the top one! Our cabin is inspected every morning. We have to keep it clean and learn to respect each other’s space.

Some things are hard to get used to. We form a line for meals and wear a uniform of shorts and camp tee shirts.

Our days are busy and active. There is lots of action, like swimming, biking, and acting. It is fun, but I miss you, Erika, and Josh. Please write and tell me what you are all doing this summer.

The Last Day

It is the last day of school! Kate’s class spends the day at the local park. It is not an ordinary day. It is nice and warm. The sun reflects on the pond. The kids are outdoors the whole time. There are races and games and great food.

In the morning Gregg’s dad gives the signal, and boys and girls are off and running for the first race. The action will continue for the rest of the day.

Parents are involved, too. They all contribute to the picnic. And Ray’s dad takes a video of the games.

At end of day Kate requests her friends’ emails so she can stay in contact with them over the summer.

It is a fun day!

“This place is huge. How will we find the dinosaur exhibit?” he wonders.

“And don’t forget the aerospace show!” Shama says.

“Hold on. Don’t interrupt. We will see everything. I just need to consult this map,” says Mr. Mike. He found a space near the telephone to look at the map.

“This way. We will see dinosaurs first. Don’t forget to take photographs.”

Off they go.

New Friends

Alex and Gavin left the big room together. They headed outside. They were enjoying an agreeable talk.

“How will you get home?” asked Gavin. “Do you live far away?”

“I live in an apartment house. The rent is very reasonable,” Alex said.

“Wow,” said Gavin. “What is it like to live in an apartment in the city?

“It’s nice. I know everyone there. They are all very likeable. And there is always a lot to do. What about you?” Alex said.

“Oh, I live in the country. My dad is picking me up in the car. No one lives near us. Just dogs, cats, cows, and goats but it is enjoyable!

“I guess there are different amusements in the country than in the city. See you next week!”

A Bad Day

Monday was a bad day for Sasha. And it was a bad day for her friend Ken, too. On the way home from school they shared their tales.

First Sasha told about her day. “At lunch I spilled juice on my new shirt. And I don’t think it is washable. I have to tell my mom when I get home. I hope another shirt is available to buy, but she may not want buy a replacement.”

Next it was Ken’s turn. “In science class, I knocked over the plant table. The garden in a bottle crashed to the floor! I had no idea it was breakable. Soil and plants were all over the floor. I put the plants back, but I think they are too perishable to grow again.”

Somehow it made them feel better to share their day!

ACTIVITY Circle all the words that have the suffix -able or -ment. Then try to use them in your own sentences. ★
Sorting is an active part of word study. Here are tips to consider as you develop your word study program.

Getting Started
- Make a copy of the sort for each student or pair. Increase the size of the copy to rid the page of the margin; this leaves less for students to cut.
- Students scribble distinctively on the back so that they recognize their chips.
- During independent work time, at their seats or in a station, students cut up the sort and place the chips in an envelope or plastic bag. Students can write their names on the fronts of the bags. Do not use instructional time for cutting up the word or picture sort.
- After cutting up the sort, students try it out; this is an “open sort.” Observe how students sort before instruction to guide your pacing. Ask students to sort the words into several columns and to set aside unknown words.

Instruction
Introduce the sort in small group. A few minutes of small group reading time is used for word study. This word study time is an opportunity to integrate phonics, spelling, and vocabulary.

Incorporate the following activities over several days. Spend just 10–15 minutes at any one time and pick up where you left off during the next small group lesson.

For each sort, use several key words if available to head the sorting categories.

1) Check that students can read the words of the sort. Students must be able to read most of the words in the sort. Three or four unknown words are acceptable and are learned over the week. Choose an easier list and sort if too many words are unknown. Explain to students that you want them to read through the sort to make sure they can read the words or name the pictures.

When first sorting, model for students how to read through the words. Read the word cards in an “I know it; I don’t know it” fashion. Put the known words in a pile in front of you; place the unknown words to the right. Show them how to count to three, and if they do not know the word, they place the unknown word card in, hopefully, a small pile to the right.

Ask students if they know the meaning of the words. You can teach several of the meanings over the week. If there are several unknown words, take the time to use them in a concept sort in which students sort the words into meaning categories, such as words that relate to animals, the landscape, and so on. Ask students to point to words that fit a category.

2) Teach four-step sorting in small group.
When you show students how to sort, begin with an easier sort and teach students the four steps that they will follow with each sort.

- Demonstrate. Show students how to sort by using the key words or pictures. Sort deliberately, and talk about what Sort and check. Students sort individually or with a partner. Students read the words aloud as they sort and compare the words to the key words.

Reflect. Ask students to explain to each other why they sorted the way they did. Guide students through a discussion of the principle and generalizations that underlie the sort.

Extend. Repeated practice with the sort over several days is essential. Students enter the sort into their three-ring word study notebooks. They leave enough space to add related words that they find in Word Hunts when they go through the stories they have read. Students sort daily by themselves or with a partner. In their station activities they sort the words as part of a word study game.

3) Monitor and assess. To know when to go on or to continue studying the principle that underlies the sort, look for these aspects as students sort with you in small group.

Accuracy in sorting. See if students sort the words in the correct columns.

Fluency and speed in sorting. If students sort quickly and accurately, they are probably ready to move on to the next sort. Students who sort accurately and slowly benefit from more practice. They can continue to practice the sort. Set up a sorting station that contains sorts from the last three weeks.

Reflection and use. See if students can explain the sort: “Why did you sort the way you did?” Look in students’ first-draft writing to see if they spell the sound or spelling pattern correctly in related words.

Sorting at Different Instructional Levels

There are several considerations when sorting across instructional levels and grades.

Students in the emergent and beginning stages of reading benefit from sorting by sound with pictures to focus on the way words sound alike at the beginning, middle, or end. For example, students consider how pairs of words sound alike: “I am going to say two words, tell me if they sound alike in the middle.”

Students in the beginning and the transitional levels sort by patterns in words. Begin to explain how patterns are related to sound. Look across vowels to find patterns. For example, ask students: “Look for long a and long o words that have the CVVC pattern as in nail and coat.”

Students in the intermediate levels study the meaning patterns within words. They study the meaning and spelling of prefixes, suffixes, and roots. Grammar ties in here as different suffixes are often related to grammatical functions; e.g., the -tion suffix turns a verb into a noun. Word histories and word roots are an important focus. Students study words deeply using paperback etymologies such as these two favorites:

What’s the Ending?

Materials
- S-shaped board (p. 80)
- Cards (p. 82)
- 4-part spinner (p. 78)
- game markers
- pencils

Skill: word endings

Prepare: This game is for two players. Use the S-shaped board. Write \textit{begin} in the first square and \textit{end} in the last square. In the remaining squares, alternate writing the endings \textit{-s}, \textit{-ed}, and \textit{-ing}.

Write spelling words on the cards. Use verbs, such as \textit{chase}, \textit{watch}, and \textit{carry}.

Players also use the four-part spinner. Write in the numbers 0, 1, 2, and 3.

Play: The first player spins the spinner and moves his or her marker that number of spaces. Then that player chooses a word card and says, then spells, the word with the ending the marker landed on. Players miss a turn by spinning a 0 or by spelling the word and ending incorrectly. The first player to get to the end is the winner.

Time for Order

Materials
- old magazines and newspapers
- Cards (p. 82)
- scissors
- glue
- timer

Skill: alphabetical order

Prepare: This game is for two players. Have players find and cut out interesting words from old magazines and newspapers. Have players glue each word on a card. Each player needs eight words.

Play: The first player must put all of the word cards in alphabetical order. The second player times the first as he or she organizes the words. The players then switch roles. They compete to see who is faster at alphabetizing the words.

Antonym Tic-Tac-Toe

Materials
- Tic-Tac-Toe grid (p. 83)
- pencils

Skill: antonyms

Prepare: This game is for two players. Use a Tic-Tac-Toe grid. Have players fill in the grid with vocabulary words.

Play: To begin, a player reads one word on the grid and names an antonym for that word. If correct, the player writes an \textit{X} or an \textit{O} in the space on top of the word. Players take turns until one player gets three \textit{X}s or \textit{O}s in a row horizontally, vertically, or diagonally.
Word Maker

Materials
Word Wheel or Slip Strips (p. 81, p. 86)
Cards (p. 82)
paper bag
pencils

Skill: prefixes

Prepare: Write the following prefixes on word cards: anti-, dis-, in-, im-, over-, mis-, pre-, re-, and un-. Fold the cards and place them in a paper bag.

Give each player a word wheel or slip strips. (If using slip strips, copy the squares several times so that players can construct strips with eight or twelve squares.)

Play: Each player chooses one prefix from the bag and writes it on the inside circle of his or her word wheel. On the outside of the wheel, have players come up with as many root words as possible that work with their chosen prefix. Players may want to refer to a dictionary for more word suggestions. (For Slip Strips, write the prefix on the rectangular card and root words on the squares.)

Same and Different

Materials
4-part spinner (p. 78)
pencil
crayons
paper

Skill: compare and contrast

Prepare: Two players are needed for this game. Give each pair a blank spinner. Ask them to color each part a different color and then alternately label Compare or Contrast.

Play: Explain to players that they will be comparing and contrasting themselves in this game. The first player spins the spinner. If he or she lands on Compare, then the two players talk together to find something they have in common. If he or she lands on Contrast, then they talk to find how they are different. Have players record their discoveries on paper.

For a more advanced version of the game, choose topics from stories and literature for players to compare and contrast.

Put It Together

Materials
Puzzle Pieces, two pieces (p. 87) plastic bags
timer

Skill: compound words

Prepare: Players need five copies each of the puzzle pieces with two interlocking pieces. Ask them to write five different compound words with the first part of the word on the first puzzle piece, and the second part of the word on the second puzzle piece. You may want to suggest compound words to use, such as schoolhouse, dollhouse, grasshopper, uproot, grassland, raincoat, and inchworm.

Players then cut out their puzzle pieces and place them in plastic bags.

Play: Have players exchange their bag with another player. Set the timer at one minute. Challenge players to build all five of their partner’s compound words in a minute. Continue by having players exchange with other players in the classroom.
Medial Sound Bingo

Materials
5 x 5 grid (p. 85)
Spelling Word Cards (pp. 45–74)
game markers

Skill: listening for long vowel medial sounds

Prepare: Each player needs a 5 x 5 grid. Above the first row, players write the following medial sounds: ã, ë, í, ö, ŭ. Players create their own bingo card by listing spelling words that have the same medial sound under each column. Have available the Spelling Word Cards for reference.

Play: Use the Spelling Word Cards to play bingo once players have filled in their grids. Remind students that the winner is the first player to get five game markers in a row vertically, horizontally, or diagonally. For a shorter game, use the 4 x 4 grid and four medial sounds.

What Do You Mean?

Materials
Oval or S-shaped board (p. 79, p. 80)
4-part spinner (p. 78)
game markers
dictionary

Skill: multiple-meaning words

Prepare: Organize players into groups of four. Give each group a copy of the oval board, which may be copied at a larger size if desired, and a 4-part spinner numbered 0, 1, 2, and 3.

First, place a star in one of the squares to mark the beginning and ending. Have the group fill in the remaining squares with multiple-meaning words such as scratch, beam, signing, uniform, coach, watch, principal, trust, safe, foreign, patient, settled, burst, stage, peer, figure, enclosure.

Play: The first player begins the game by spinning the spinner to see how many spaces to go. The player reads the word he or she landed on and names one meaning of the word. As the game continues, if other players land on the same word, they must give another meaning for the same word. Players may want to keep a dictionary at hand to check definitions. The first player to reach the star is the winner.

The S-shaped board can also be used for this game. Write begin in the first square and end in the last square, and then write multiple-meaning words in the remaining squares.
Spinners

1. Cut out and complete a spinner.

2. Mount it on heavy paper.

3. Attach arrow with a brad.
Oval Game Board
1. Cut out and complete each wheel.

2. Attach small wheel on top of large wheel with a brad.
